

Advanced Sexuality A Mixed Group For Men And Women

Personal development Workshop | Course leaders: Maggie McKenzie and John Witt

We work together as men and women in the advanced group, to share our experience, to look at our evolution sexually, to ask and answer questions of each other, to look at the implications of sexism and stereotypes and how the world treats us as men and women.

This group is a mixed group, is limited to twelve participants and is open to those who have completed the basic and intermediate groups. Participants are expected to do about three hours' homework a week for the duration of the group.

How to book

To participate in the advanced sexuality group for men and women, you must have completed basic sexuality group and the intermediate sexuality group. To find out more, please enquire online.
